

CODA Audio is a leading developer and manufacturer of high-quality loudspeaker systems with locations in Hanover (DE), Richmond (USA), Sofia (BG) and Worcestershire (UK). As well as the loudspeakers themselves, our product range comprises the entire chain of signal transportation, processing, amplification and cabling for all sizes of system. All our hardware is built from component level, in-house. We are internationally represented, and our products hold a number of patents. Whether in a concert hall or on a large open-air stage, sound systems developed by CODA Audio set the standard with regard to performance and playback rendering, consistent with our motto: Hearing is believing.

Our Technical Support department is currently expanding our product lines and upgrading our current platforms. As a result, we are currently seeking a:
